Other popular dishes include Kenyan Stew, made with meat and spices, Mutura, a rich, dark goat sausage and Mandazi, a donut-like dough flavoured with cardamom and sweet coconut milk.

Coastal regions feature Swahili-inspired dishes with coconut, rice, and fresh seafood, while urban areas offer a mix of international and local flavours.

Important Travel Advice: Tap water and ice in Kenya is not safe for consumption. Please be advised to drink bottled water only.

Tanzanian cuisine is a delightful mix of African, Arab, Indian and European influences, offering fresh, flavourful dishes across the country. Staples also include ugali (maize porridge), pilau (spiced rice), nyama choma (grilled meat), and a variety of fresh fish along the coast.

Important Travel Advice: Tap water and ice in Tanzania is not safe for consumption. Please be advised to drink bottled water only.

ACCOMMODATION:

Your accommodation has been selected for convenience of location, comfort or character, and can range from a business hotel in one city to a lodge or camp in more remote areas. In remote areas, accommodation may be of a lower standard and may not have western amenities. Hotels are generally rated as local three or four-star standard but do please note that there is no international classification system for hotels and differences in facilities and quality do exist between the New Zealand and Kenya and Tanzania. Rest assured that all hotels used by Wendy Wu Tours are regularly inspected by our staff and our partners to ensure that standards are met.

Serengeti Kati Kati Camp: A mobile camp, offering comfortable accommodation during your safari experience. The Serengeti Kati Kati camp holds a resemblance of the old camps of the first explorers in Africa and has been designed to blend the essence of a safari adventure with modern comforts. Each tent is furnished with bedding, ensuite bathrooms with hot showers and toiletries. Please note, Wi-Fi and electricity is available at the campsite.

If you experience any difficulty, please speak to your Driver Guide.

TRANSPORT:

4x4 vehicles: Exploring Kenya and Tanzania by 4x4 is the most authentic way to experience the region's wildlife and landscapes. Safari vehicles are specially designed for comfort and visibility, allowing you to navigate rough terrain, savannahs, and national parks with ease. Journeys may include long drives across scenic routes, crater rims, and remote plains, giving a sense of adventure while ensuring safety and accessibility. Most 4x4 safari vehicles (e.g., Toyota Land Cruiser) are fitted with a pop-up or lift-up roof that allows passengers to stand and view wildlife safely above the vehicle.

Roads in Kenya and Tanzania vary widely, ranging from well-paved highways in urban areas to rough, unpaved tracks in remote regions and national parks. While major routes between cities are generally in good condition, safari drives often involve gravel or dirt roads, which can be bumpy, especially after rain. Travellers should expect slower travel times in rural areas.

DEVELOPMENT IN KENYA & TANZANIA:

Kenya and Tanzania are rapidly developing countries, balancing modern infrastructure with vast natural and cultural landscapes. Urban centres such as Nairobi and Mombasa feature modern roads, hotels, shopping centres, and international airports, while rural areas and national parks retain a more traditional and undeveloped character. Visitors should be prepared for variations in facilities and services outside major cities.

CLIMATE:

Kenya's temperatures are typically high all year round, however can vary with altitude. Summer temperatures (December to March) range from 35° to 40°C during the day, and 25°C to 30°C at night. Kenya's rainy season and the end of Summer usually begins in April to June and again in November to December.

Tanzania's climate is warm and tropical, varying by region and altitude. Coastal areas, including Zanzibar, are hot and humid, while the central plateau and highland regions, such as Arusha and the Serengeti, enjoy more moderate temperatures with cooler evenings. The country experiences two main rainy seasons: March to May and November to December. Summer months are also between December to March, where temperatures range from 30° during the day and 20° at night.

TIPPING POLICY:

Tipping while on holiday is common in most parts of the world and Kenya and Tanzania are no exception. However, it is not always clear who it is appropriate to tip and how much. Furthermore, travellers may not have the right amounts of cash available at the right time. In order to avoid any inconvenience Wendy Wu Tours operates a tipping policy where a stated amount is given to each driver guide, in a new country, and tips are disbursed amongst your main service providers (for example local guides and drivers) throughout your tour.

The amount is designed to be at a reasonable level for travellers while being fair to the local people and includes a gratuity for the national escort. Any other tipping, such as tips for bathroom attendants and restaurant staff, is at your discretion based on satisfaction of services received, as are gratuities for additional requested special services.

We generally find that most customers appreciate the convenience of our tipping policy but we do recognize that it may not suit everyone. However, as this is a group tour we ask that everyone follows the same protocol to be fair to other group members and to ensure smooth operation of your tour.

APPROPRIATE DRESS:

Lightweight and comfortable clothing is recommended for travel in Kenya and Tanzania, with neutral colours best for safaris to blend into the natural environment. Temperatures can vary, therefore, we recommend bringing with you, a jacket. Light clothing for warm days and a jumper or jacket for cool mornings and evenings. In coastal and urban areas, modest dress is appreciated, particularly in predominantly Muslim communities; shoulders and knees should be covered when visiting towns, villages, or religious sites. Practical footwear, a sun hat, and sunglasses are essential, while a light rain jacket is useful during the wet season.

CULTURAL DIFFERENCES:

Religion plays an important role in both Kenya and Tanzania, with Christianity and Islam widely practiced, so modest attire is encouraged in places of worship and rural communities. While English is spoken in many areas, Swahili is the national language in both countries.

SOUVENIRS:

We want to give you the chance to purchase souvenirs in a way that feels authentic and meaningful. Throughout your journey in Kenya and Tanzania, we include select stops at villages, community projects and cultural centres that showcase crafts and products unique to each region — with pieces available to buy directly from the artisans.

We understand that souvenir shopping is not for everyone, so we choose places of genuine local and cultural interest. These visits not only offer opportunities to find special keepsakes but also highlight the history, artistry, and traditions behind them. Whether it is Maasai beadwork, Tinga Tinga paintings, hand-carved wood, or the famous Tanzanite gemstones, these encounters provide insight into East Africa's rich cultural heritage while supporting local livelihoods.

VACCINATIONS AND YOUR HEALTH:

We recommend that you contact either your doctor or Health centre for advice on vaccinations and travel health. Safetravel has a comprehensive website that you may also find useful www.safetravel.govt.nz

BEFORE YOU LEAVE:

We strongly recommend registering your travel plans with www.safetravel.govt.nz as in the event of an emergency, New Zealand Consular assistance will be more readily available.

Up until the day you travel, it is vital you keep up to date and familiarised with the entry requirements as these can change at short notice. You are personally responsible for completing any entry forms, conducting any covid tests (if necessary), etc and adhering to countries' specific entry requirements. You can also access the New Zealand Government's travel advisory service for up-to-date information about your destination on the same website.

AFTER YOUR BOOKING:

Once you have booked with Wendy Wu Tours, you will receive a confirmation invoice including a visa application form (if applicable), and a help sheet. Your final documentation pack will be sent to you approximately 2-3 weeks prior to departure.

ITINERARY CHANGES:

It is our intention is to adhere to the day-to-day itinerary as printed; however, the order of events or sightseeing may change as we look to improve our tours or as local conditions dictate; in these circumstances we will make the best possible arrangements whilst maintaining the integrity of your
